LAFCO Hearing Today

Broadmoor Financial Burden Eased a Little

By FRANK LaPIERRE
Reports of the demise of the Broadmoor Police Protection District on July 1, 1976, have been greatly exaggerated, to paraphrase Samuel Clemens' famous saying.

Delays in the anticipated annexation by Daly City of a valuable piece of Broadmoor east of the Junipero Serra Freeway is credited by Broadmoor Police officials with breathing new life into the financially plagued district.

For two years, former Police Chief Ray Savage and members of the Police District's Board of Commissioners have bemoaned the fact that the district was running out of time and the State Legislature should step in and "save" the district by allowing a property tax rate increase.

As late as last week, two members of the Police Commission and their supporters told State Assembly Speaker Leo McCarthy that time was fast running out for the district, unless action was initiated immediately to provide for an increase in taxes, needed to support the police district.

At that meeting in the Colma Fire Department office, McCarthy assured those attending that he would initiate legislation to permit Broadmoor residents to vote on whether they wanted a tax increase of $1.50, rather than the .75 per $100 of assessed valuation now in effect.

No mention was made of the availability of money that now appears sufficient to carry the district at least through July 1, 1977.

Chief Merrill Baxley said the proposed budget and other information was "laid on my desk and available for all three commissioners" to review.

Baxley said some money, "which we just did not know was there," had been discovered.

In addition, a possible error in the computation of the community's total net

Summary of stories carried in our Daly City Herald editions Friday.

• About That Mountain

The Board of Supervisors' action Thursday to exclude the saddle area of San Bruno Mountain from development possibly could lead to "commotion, disruption, litigation and no project," according to the attorney for Visitation Associations, whose project was sliced from over 7,000 living units to 2,235 units. Another story in today's POST, Page 7C.

• Costly, Colorful Vans

Van Van clubs are becoming a growing craze, and one group, Ozone Vans of South San Francisco, will be one year old in May. There are more than 200 persons in similar van clubs on the Peninsula, according to reports received by Staff Writer Janet Parker, whose story pointed out that the new "alliances are taking over where hot rods left off 20 years ago."

• The Minimum Day Decision

Jefferson Elementary School District trustees told the administration to eliminate minimum days during which teachers have received "in-service" training. According to a PTA survey most respondents didn't want minimum days. The survey was called biased by the teachers' representative, Michael Cusick.

• Voter Trial Date Set

A trial date of July 12 was established Thursday for Colma Councilman Raymond D. Ottoboni, his wife, Mae, and their son, Raymond J. Ottoboni, under indictment for alleged voter fraud charges.

DC Police Respond to Jury Critique

By DUANE SANDUL
Daly City Police Chief David L. Hansen today responded to comments that his department "botched up" the investigation in the city's baby killing case.

The assertion came from some jurors following their acquittal last Friday of Charles C. Lawrence, 23, of murder and assault in the stabbing death of seven-month-old Carlos Espinoza, and the brutal attack on his mother, Alma Elaine Ayala, 19, last November.

"I think that we screwed up the investigation to some extent, but the jury had sufficient evidence to convict," Hansen said in an interview initiated by The Times.

"We admit that the overall investigation was not up to our standards in homicide investigations," Hansen added. "But we think that even with our mistakes there was sufficient evidence to convict. Obviously, the jury didn't agree."

Hansen said that mistakes — such as losing a roll of film of the deceased baby — were not paramount to hamper the case.

The chief revealed that following his arrest, Lawrence flunked two voluntary polygraph (lie detector) examinations. Results of Results of such examinations are inadmissible as evidence at the trial.

"The mistakes are ours," Hansen said. "But 'botched up' is not a fair word. There was some good investigation in the case."

Some jurors also stated that they discarded the testimony of Miss Ayala — who named Lawrence as the assailant — because she had given various stories as to who was the assailant.

Daly City Police Sgt. Tom Reese said that Miss Ayala's earlier accounts were before her knowledge of the baby's death.

Hansen also took issue with comments from Nolan following the verdict in which the veteran attorney stated that he believed because of the sensational aspects of the crime "it became easy to arrest and prosecute someone."

They arrested Charles about two or three days on some subjective belief on someone's part that he committed the crime. This was a case they wanted to solve. My client was the most convenient and easiest person around."

Said Hansen, "He was not arbitrarily arrested. He was picked up in the course of a long investigation which included clearing three other possible suspects

When teacher Jim Love goes to school on Monday morning, he knows he will face many challenges in the week ahead — 240 of them to be exact.

Love is the lone teacher in the Jefferson Elementary School District Mentally Gifted Minors Program (MGM).

This is the first year JESD has had a program for students who show exceptional potential in learning.

MGM Coordinator Doris Hicks, however, has told the Board of Trustees the program should continue only if the district is willing to provide money for its expansion.

The MGM staff sees their program as carrying out the federal requirements of equal education for all children.

All children, staff members and parents said, deserve an equal chance to learn — and that means providing them with the kind of education that will stimulate their desire to learn.

It's pure mythology that the exceptionally bright students can take care of themselves and make it in a regular classroom.

"The MGM Program is an identified, valid need of the community," wrote Mrs. Hicks in a report to the board. "Left without challenge for this capacity to learn, the gifted student is likely to become disinterested in formal education:

his gift then becomes an impediment to his assuming a deserved place in society."

In fact, she said, across the country there is a high dropout rate among exceptionally bright students in high school.

"There's a growing awareness that we should give these youngsters instruction very early to be summer. Potential participants were referred to Mrs. Hicks by teachers and parents and even other students.

Students needed a score of at least 132 out of a possible 165 on the Stanford-Binet test to qualify. Learning potentials varied greatly among those who were accepted. One nine-year-old student, Mrs.

ing to take and develop photographs.

The activities, Love said, are "tools for science," allowing children to learn basic principles.

The teacher has constructed a cardboard darkroom and the children have made their own pinhole box cameras to take pictures.

"My concern is not that the program be exciting problem-solvers and problem-seekers," Mrs. Hicks said.

For Teacher Jim Love:

Love also emphasized the need for equal education for all students, including the mentally gifted.

"I'm kind of anti-program, but this is one program that carries out the philosophy of what education is supposed to mean," Love said.

These children, he said, are the potential leaders of society and yet the state gives school districts only $67 a year for each student identified by the district through testing as mentally gifted.

The first through sixth grade children in the program were identified last Hicks said, showed a mental capacity of 20 years.

Funds to test the students are offered by the state Department of Education. There are 200 students on a waiting list still to be tested for the program.

The program this year has been housed in a single room at Thomas Edison School. Mentally gifted children from the district's 20 schools are sent to Jim Love once a week for three hours. Parents must approve their children's participation.

The emphasis in the classroom has been on science and math. Activities, of which there are a variety, have included growing plants and learn-but that the children learn more. If it turns out exciting, fine," Love said.

Before he was teaching the MGM children, Love had an eighth grade class in the district.

He said he finds that the fourth through sixth grade children respond to him much the same as the older eighth grade students had.

"I function very effectively with those older children," he said.

Working with the younger group, he said, "has been quite an experience." Their high ability to learn often makes him forget that they are only six, seven and eight years old. Occasionally, he said, he finds himself looking for

Anger Over Council Action on Fireman

Action taken by the Daly City City Council Monday concerning a personnel matter could open a "Pandora's box" filled with problems, many officials feared today.

The council voted unanimously to send back to the city's Personnel Commission the case of fireman George DeBono, suspended for one day for alleged failure to obey his superior's orders.

It was the first time such action was ever initiated by the council concerning a personnel matter. The decision shocked and angered some members of the commission, including Chairman Dino Tonelli. Tonelli said he feared far-reaching repercussions from the council's motion.

In effect, DeBono will be getting a second try at having the Commission's ruling overturned.

Before the council vote, City Atty. Albert Polonsky warned that a precedent was being set.

But councilman Victor Kyriakis, also an attorney, said he would consider sending the matter back to the Personnel Commission because new evidence would be introduced in DeBono's defense. Kyriakis said his decision was based on a "one time only" ruling.

Other city staff and Commission members, however, interpreted the council's action differently. They thought every dissatisfied employee would now use the DeBono ruling as justification for rehearing his case.

DeBono's attorney, Steven Stemmerman of San Francisco, argued Monday that his client did not have legal representation at the Commission hearing.

Polonsky countered that DeBono was fully aware he had the right to an attorney.

Schumacher Request Denied

'Carpethagger'? Absurd, Says Candidate Foran

Assemblyman John Foran, candidate for the open Sixth Senate District seat, said today charges that he is a "carpethagger" are "absolutely absurd."

The charges were leveled against the longtime assemblyman because he moved into the Sixth district only a few days before taking out nomination papers to run for the seat vacated by San Francisco Mayor George Moscone.

"I lived in that neighborhood and have maintained a home there for the past 10 years," Foran explained. "When redistricting split the district, I had to move in order to seek re-election to my assembly seat. And I was returned to office," he said.

Last week, another candidate in the Senate race, attorney Bill Schumacher, who is a Daly City councilman, asked San Francisco Superior Court Judge Henry Rolph to issue a temporary restraining order aimed at blocking Foran's filing for the Senate post.

The request by Schumacher did not name Foran, but it was apparent that he was its target.

Group From D.C. Asks Park Funds

A contingent of Daly City residents trooped to Sacramento Tuesday to ask the legislature to earmark some $4 million in park funds for use in buying land on San Bruno Mountain.

Led by Conrad Pavellas, chairman of the Original Daly City Protective Association, the residents will appear before the Natural Resources and Wildlife Committee asking for help in acquiring park land on the mountain.

Monday night the Daly City City Council unanimously passed a request that the State Legislature let the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors decide where the money should be spent.

The motion did not restrict where the money could be spent, although proponents of a park on the mountain had asked that the money be spent only in the so-called "saddle area."

Councilman McRobert Stewart noted that the supervisors might see fit to spend the $4 million for development of recreational areas around Brisbane, perhaps at the proposed Sierra Point marina complex.

Assemblyman Louis J. Papan said today he would not oppose or even appear, at the committee meeting because protocol forbids appearances by assembly members at senate hearings.

Papan has come under attack in recent weeks from some circles for his action to prevent the money from being spent only in the saddle area.

Had the funds been limited to that one area of the county — and the mountain — it might have failed to win support in the Legislature, Papan feels.

The assemblyman wants to leave as many options as more from those students than they are capable of. Mrs. Hicks said she expects that 300 MGM students will participate in the program by September and 354 by the following September.

At this time there are 140 boys and 95 girls including 154 Anglos, 34 Orientals, 11 blacks, 18 Latinos, 15 Filipinos and three other non-white students.

Mrs. Hicks has told the trustees of her many plans to expand the program — plans which she hopes the trustees will approve.

Personnel must be expanded, she said, and she's asking the board to add one more full-time, credentialed teacher to teach liberal and fine arts.

She's also asking for an instructional aide and a secretary, both part time, and that her own job become full time.

The addition of a teacher, she said, would provide MGM students special attention in areas in which Love has not had time to work.

The MGM staff hopes to expand the classroom to allow a series of Science Learning Stations with formal lecturing minimized. In addition, they hope to acquire a photographic darkroom to replace a homemade one.

With the addition of a teacher, the MGM program will need more space and they hope to obtain a portable classroom.

The District Committee for Innovative Projects already has awarded the program $4,185 to purchase a greenhouse as a third MGM facility. The greenhouse, however, still must be approved by an architectural group before it is constructed. It would allow students to study horticulture.

The Science Learning Stations, she said, will require more money for equipment to study electronics, electricity and magnetism, computers, meteorology, optics, physics, astronomy and related fields.

Mrs. Hicks said MGM students next year should participate in the program one full day a week, rather than the half-day schedule used this year.

The MGM students, she said, have lost valuable learning time travelling from their own schools to the MGM classroom at Thomas Edison. And, she said, the half-day is inadequate to cover all the topics proposed for MGM next year.

"The program was established with minimal, even marginal, provision of these requirements initially," Mrs. Hicks wrote in a report to the board. "There is no question about the inability of the program to proceed without these expansions."

While Mrs. Hicks hopes for greater appropriations from the district next year, a parent group has set a goal of $10,000 to be raised for the program next year.

Don Fleming, whose daughter is in the program, is one of the parents in Daly City Friends of MGM, a group seeking non-profit corporation status for itself.

If the state Franchise Tax Board approves the application, the organization will begin accepting equipment donations from companies and industries.

Fleming, who also is the city's director of community development, said the willingness of parents to help the program is an indication of their enthusiasm.

The non-profit group will have a 21-member board of directors and they already have obtained commitments from some photographic companies for materials.

Mrs. Hicks said the MGM staff has applied for a federal grant of $10,000 to supplement state and district funds and will apply for more grants as time allows.

She has made a preliminary request for $34,000 from the trustees to supplement state funds, the federal application and the fund-raising goal of the non-profit groups. The total estimated budget for 1976-77 is $83,637, although the board has asked for a more thorough financial analysis, including the cost if Mrs. Hicks' coordinating duties are made full time.

Anger

What swayed the council's decision granting DeBono a rehearing was attorney Stemer's contention that DeBono had left work about 8 a.m. on Dec. 17, 1975, because of illness.

The city contends that DeBono willfully refused to obey an order from Battalion Chief Mel Hansen that he be transferred to another fire station for the day because of a shortage of manpower.

According to transcripts of the hearing, DeBono told Hansen he would go home sick before accepting the transfer.

The city charged DeBono not only disobeyed an order, but abused his sick time.

Stemer said he could produce two witnesses — firemen Michael O'Conner and Alver Larsen — who would testify DeBono never said he would go home sick rather than accept the transfer order.

And, Stemer added, he could prove DeBono actually was sick and went to see "two doctors, as a matter of fact."

possible open so the money will at least remain in the county.

He said the county Parks and Recreation Department had given him "several options" on where the money might best be spent.

It was also expected the property owners, Crocker Land Co. and AMFAC, would oppose purchase of the saddle area despite last week's split decision by the Board of Supervisors cutting the parcel out of a proposed development plan for the mountain.

Such opposition on the part of the owner would make acquisition that much more difficult, Papan explained, and could put a damper on passage of Senate Bill 1455.

The bill was authored by Sen. Arlen Gregorio (Dem.-San Mateo County).

It was expected to be sent to the Senate Finance Committee after clearing the NRW Committee.

Broadmoor

assessed valuation also has been uncovered by the San Mateo County Controller's Office — a difference of $4 million, to be exact.

Savage had been working on Police District budgets under the assumption that Daly City by now would have annexed properties in and around the giant QFI warehouse.

The former chief also was using a San Mateo County Controller's Office figure of $11,905,725 in estimating the district's budget.

But two months ago, in a letter from the Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO), dated Jan. 21, 1976, Baxley learned that Broadmoor's total assessed valuation was actually $15,057,664 — some $3 million more than expected.

The budget of the district is $185,000 for the current year.

Baxley said he is chipping off whatever fat he can on the current budget and soon will present it to the three-man Police Commission.

He still is using the $11.9 million figure, rather than the higher assessed valuation figure, in case of an error by the county.

The district also has $51,000 in its general reserve that can be used in the new budget, plus $12,000 still owed to Broadmoor by Colma for police protection.

Until last year, Broadmoor provided police service to the Town of Colma under contract.

Colma now has its own fulltime police department and the contract was allowed to expire.

Add to that about $10,000 in unspent budgeted items, such as travel, transportation and community activities that Baxley has been successful in "saving."

One commissioner that has trumpeted the district's bleak financial future for several months has been John McCloskey — subject of a recall vote in May.

McCloskey told this newspaper that the disclosure "shocked and embarrassed me."

Contrary to what Baxley said concerning the availability of the information to all police commissioners, McCloskey said he "did not have the opportunity to look at it (the information)."

McCloskey said there had been some suspicion that discrepancies existed in what the county considered the assessed valuation for Broadmoor was and what was projected by individuals working within the district.

The district will be able to struggle through until July 1, 1977, "but it will be tight," Baxley admitted. "At the end of 1977 (July 1) we will be broke, unless we get some relief."

Baxley says he doesn't think there was any misleading information intentionally given out by those officials connected with the district.

Rather, it had been assumed Daly City would have completed annexation of the QFI Market area, cutting off whatever hope Broadmoor had of keeping its head above water.

Wednesday (today, March 24) LAFCO will vote on whether to accept a staff report to give Broadmoor a "zero" sphere of influence. If granted, this would open the door to Daly City to annex the community, one Broadmoor official feared.

"It would be the absolute end of Broadmoor as we know it today," Baxley said.

Rankin Heads Mental Health

Appointment of Robert M. Rankin, program chief of Berkeley Mental Health Services, to the position of director of the San Mateo County Mental Health Program was announced today by Dr. George Pickett, director of the Department of Health and Welfare.

Pickett said that the selection of Rankin climaxes a nationwide recruitment effort which resulted in a total of 130 applications for the job.

Reports indicate that the names of North County streets are being studied. Here are some interesting facts in this regard.

To Junipero Serra, limping all the way from Mexico to the Golden Gate, the trail was named El Camino Real, the Royal Road. Through San Diego and Los Angeles; along the Santa Barbara Coast; past Monterey and San Jose; into San Mateo and Daly City — called La Portezuela, the road was named El Camino Real: every bit of it.

But in pioneer San Francisco, however, Junipero Serra's Mission Dolores stood two-and-a-quarter miles away from the city that was being developed. The trail between was sandy and difficult to travel, especially for heavy vehicles. Owing to this, the cost of freight was great and produced such rates as $15 to $20 to move a load of hay from the Mission to the central plaza of San Francisco.

TO SOLVE THE problems that the sandy trail presented, in 1850 one Col. Charles K. Wilson received a contract from the Board of Aldermen to build a road of planks from Kearney Street to the Mission. Building his road was called a "tremendous enterprise," but the colonel did it, and his masterpiece was known simply as the Road to the Mission. Soon it became Mission Road and finally Mission Street.

For some reason, the name attached itself to sections of the road that ran south of Mission Dolores and eventually divided, with one branch retaining the name of Old Mission Road, until it lost itself in South San Francisco. The other branch picked up the name that Junipero Serra and his priests had given it, El Camino Real. Neither name, however, impressed the surveyors of 1877 and 1894. They called it Main County Road.

WHILE BOTH Mission Road and El Camino Real, hearken back into history, it does seem that El Camino Real has a greater claim to the sections of the street that run through Colma and Daly City.

When this street — El Camino Real or Mission Road or Main County Road — reached an area that the earliest settlers called San Hills, it met a road that wandered through the sand and over the hills in a Southwest manner until it nearly reached the coast. Old San Pedro Road once was the main connection between the Sanchez adobe and the gardens that the priests kept to feed their Indians and Mission Dolores.

On Old San Pedro Road, the first merchants of Colma built their stores and the gardeners in the hills that became Serramonte and Fairmont drove their wagons of produce to market.

Not far from Old San Pedro Road, Patty Brooks built his house kept it fifty years and Michael Comerford raised seedlings that were sent to provide trees for many sections of California. At the head of Old San Pedro Road, Mr. Donks divided his land to provide the grounds for a school house and the church in the region.

Although developers had no need for Old San Pedro Road and covered it up with buildings and criss-cross streets, the name remains on a street that runs from Mission to Junipero Serra. Surely it should be retained in the list of streets in Daly City and Colma.

THE OFFICIAL County map for 1894 indicates that there was a section of land that was known as the School House Homestead. Its planners envisioned single dwelling houses for happy families. The name School Street originated with that development and stuck long after the developers turned to new dreams.

Jackson Gears Up Locally

San Mateo County supporters of Presidential candidate Henry M. "Scoop" Jackson held a meeting March 13 to begin coordinating preparations for the April Jackson caucus.

The caucus, which will elect a slate of Jackson delegates from the Eleventh Congressional District, will be held at Mills High School April 11. The number of delegates attending the Democratic Convention in New York will depend on the results of the June primary.

Bay Area Jackson Coordinator Daniel Flanagan said at the session that he expects a good turnout in April for Jackson in the wake of the Washington Senator's expected New York primary victory.

Organizer Louie Sanguinetti spoke to the group about preparations for the upcoming caucus. Another meeting was tentatively scheduled for later in the month.

Three Daly City residents are candidates for delegate to the convention — Louie Sanguinetti, Dan Swanson and Nathaniel Pava.

Three Outstanding Art Exhibits Coming to SF

Spring will be a season of unprecedented riches for Bay Area museum-goers.

Three extraordinary special art collections will be unveiled here during March and April.

Between April 17 and May 4, when all three exhibitions run concurrently, art aficionados will have an opportunity to savor 232 European and American masterworks, many of them never shown in the U.S. before.

The first to open will be the Picasso/Braque/Leger show at the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art. Drawn from the private collections of Switzerland, this March 21 - May 4 super attraction consists of 83 paintings and drawings by the three 20th century titans who launched the Cubism movement.

The touring exhibit of Master Paintings from the Hermitage and the State Russian Museum in Lenin-grad moves into the California Palace of the Legion of Honor March 27 - May 9.

According to the San Francisco Convention and Visitors Bureau, the capture of this spectacular array of 43 paintings by 36 artists from eight countries is a coup for Northern California since Los Angeles was originally the only city on the show's West Coast schedule. San Francisco is the last stop on its U.S. tour.

Three Centuries of Art in America from the Collection of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, 3rd, assembled as a bicentennial special, will have its first public viewing at the M. H.

de Young Memorial Museum April 17 - July 31.

Fifty-seven Picassos spanning 68 years of the artist's life highlight the Picasso/Braque/Leger show. The presentation was organized by the Minneapolis Institute of Art in cooperation with the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art and the Sarah Campbell Blaffer Gallery in Houston, Texas.

The Russian exhibition, which has been galvanizing gallery-goers in five American cities, is studied with prime, world-celebrated works.

Included in this collection of old masters, 20th century French masters and Russian indigenous artists are paintings by Caravaggio, Rembrandt, Rubens, Van Dyck, Poussin, Claude, Chardin, Boucher, Fragonard, Zurburan, Velasquez, Veronese, Tiepolo, Guardi, Cranach, Hals, Gainsborough, Cezanne, Gauguin, Matisse, Picasso Bakst, Serov and Repin.

The Rockefeller Bicentennial Exhibition which will be at the de Young in Golden Gate Park for three and a half months is one of the most important collections of American art still in private hands.

Its 106 paintings, drawings, watercolors and sculpture date from 1670 to the present.

Among the well-known artists represented are John Singleton Copley, Robert Feke, John Smibert, Eastman Johnson, Charles Willson Peale, Raphaelle Peale, Thomas Eakins, Winslow Homer and Andrew Wyeth.

Series on Liberty Slated

The series, "Liberty and Justice for All" will continue at St. Andrew's Church tonight with the Rev. Mr. Thomas Rolle, deacon, leading group discussions in the bicentennial concerns.

The program will begin at 8 in the church, 1571 Southgate Ave., Daly City.

Sister Irmalyn Benkert, director of education for the parish, is coordinator of the educational series.

FRIENDS OF the Library will gather in the Coral Room of the Westlake branch of the Daly City Library at 10 a.m. tomorrow for a talk by retired Navy Cmdr. John Dale Pyle Hodapp Jr., one-time literary adviser to author C. S. Forester.

Mrs. Joseph Canada, book review chairman, arranged the program. Coffee will be served at 10 a.m. by Mrs. Wayne Jarvis and members of the hospitality committee, and a no-host luncheon, honoring the speaker, will conclude the day's agenda, according to Mrs. Emmitt Tierney, publicity chairman.

A BUSY DAY ahead for Mrs. Virginia Stanghellini, president of the Mary's Help Hospital Guild. Mrs. Stanghellini will be one of the moderators at a Kaleidoscope Workshop being held tomorrow for the Northern Peninsula Council of Volunteers.

Workshops will be offered in Leadership, Recruitment and Training, Volunteer Expectations, Community Outreach and Comfort and Support.

Attending with Mrs. Stanghellini will be Mrs. Lillian Bertucci, guild vice president; Mrs. Fran Gaffigan, Mrs. Millie Dunow, Mrs. Barbara Cardinalli, Mrs. Mary Short, Mrs. Winnie Shaub, Mrs. Jennie Aiello, Mrs. Irene Phisterer and Mrs. Louise Giuffra.

Friday, everyone will be at the hospital for the regular monthly guild meeting. The board and tray workshop members will meet at 10:30 a.m. with the general meeting and luncheon set for 12:30 in the solarium.

IT IS SPRING FESTIVAL time in Our Lady of Mercy parish! Festival committee members are planning their major fund raising event April 29-May 2, and this year, in the bicentennial spirit, the theme will be "Star Spangled Days."

Mrs. Michael Millane is the general chairwoman and handling floor responsibilities are Mrs. Peter Balestrieri, Mrs. James Dougherty, and Harry Kanelopoulos.

Mrs. Richard Mudge and Kanelopoulos are handling the investment tickets, with Mrs. John Willden, the co-chairwoman.

A chicken dinner will be served on May 1 and Mrs. A. J. Phillips and Mrs. Julian Fernando are chairing that portion of the program.

The special decorations will be provided by Ed Cuevas, Albert Modena Jr. and John Hughes.

ONLY A FEW DAYS are left in which to make last minute preparations for the opening ceremonies for Scout America '76. Alvin Schwarzbach is chairing this bicentennial celebration, assisting Schwarzbach are Mrs. Carole Ann Scott of Daly City; Mrs. Carol Miller, South San Francisco; Mrs. Iris Fallo, San Bruno; Mrs. Marge McCoy, Pacifica and Mrs. Ada Anderson, Tri-City and Mrs. Helen Edwards of the Merced Million, Sunset and Golden Gate Associations.

The opening flag ceremony will be held at 11 a.m., April 3, in the fountain area of Serramonte Shopping Center.

Mrs. Elizabeth Funderburg, reservations chairman, has general information about the plans for April 24. She will accept calls for reservations at 355-2184.

Tickets for the jaunt, which will be on the bus, are $10 per person.

Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan, trips chairman, has arranged the details of this sojourn through the Santa Cruz mountains, to the Natural Bridges State Park, The Last Supper presentation and Santa Cruz's boardwalk.

MRS. JOSEPH ABRUZZO reservation chairman for the Fashion Show and luncheon benefiting the Daly City Civic Ballet, still has tickets available for the show on April 3.

Bilingual Voting Costs Told

It will cost San Mateo County taxpayers an additional $63,945 to finance the June 8 primary election because of a new federal law requiring the conducting of elections in Spanish as well as English.

The Board of Supervisors has approved the additional appropriation to meet requirements of the Voting Rights Act.

The board also accepted a recommendation by Church that it request the state's congressional representatives to seek federal legislation to reimburse counties for the additional costs of the primary and future elections.

Commenting on the government's decreeing the election changes without providing the financing, Supervisor John Ward said the bi-lingual requirement is "laudable," but decried "this kind of fiscal impact is a classic example of what doesn't get in the budget information."

Two Charged With Burglary, Bribe Attempt

Two San Francisco women were in custody in Daly City Friday charged with burglary and attempting to bribe a police officer.

Both charges are felonies. No one in the Daly City Police Department could recall a charge of attempting to bribe a police officer being made in recent years.

According to police, Yuki E. Gibbons, 33, of One Western Shore Road and Patricia Ann Eckert, 28, of 48 Henry St. both of San Francisco, were apprehended after they were allegedly seen by police leaving Mervyn's Department store with shopping bags filled with miscellaneous items of clothing.

A search of the women's car, police said, disclosed several empty shopping bags and items apparently taken from other stores at the Serramonte Shopping Center.

The law draws a fine line between shoplifting and burglary. Burglary is charged with a person enters a place with the deliberate intent of stealing. Shoplifting is a misdemeanor.

Mrs. Gibbons tried to bribe Sgt. Tom Barner, and officers Fred Gualco and Warren Keith after she was arrested, according to police.

Reports indicate Mrs. Gibbons offered the three officers $100 each and showed them the cash at the scene of the arrest.

Mrs. Gibbons was jailed in lieu of $5,000 bail, while Ms. Eckert, who told police she is a student at San Francisco City College, was charged with burglary. Her bail was set at $1,000. She is also in jail.

Daly City Engagement Told

June 26 wedding plans are being made by Portia Joyce Jackson and Paul Thomas Collins who have reserved the Paradise Baptist Church in San Francisco for the ceremony.

The couple's engagement was revealed to family and friends at parties given in Daly City and Foster City.

Portia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton E. Jackson of Daly City, and her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Collins of Troy, N.Y., who plan to attend the wedding.

The bride-elect was graduated from Jefferson High School in Daly City and Pitzer College in Claremont where she earned her bachelor of arts degree in clinical psychology. She made her debut at the Sheraton Palace Hotel in 1970.

Maternal grandparents of the prospective bride are Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Bowie of Hodge, La., and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Mike Jackson of the same city.

Paul is a graduate of Troy High School and Alfred University in Alfred, N.Y. Mr. and Mrs. John T. Collins Sr. of Troy are his paternal grandparents and the late Mrs. Rachel Bishop Wesley of Troy is his maternal grandmother.

Portia and Paul are both employed by the same insurance firm as field representatives in Southern California.

Moakler-Soules

Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Moakler of South San Francisco have announced the engagement of their daughter, Kathleen Michelle, to Stephen Michael Soules, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Soules, also of South San Francisco.

A June 27 wedding date has been set at St. Veronica's Catholic Church in South San Francisco. The Rev. Joseph Gordon of Mater Dolorosa Catholic Church in South City will perform the rites which will be followed by a reception at the Officers' Club of the San Francisco Presidio.

A resident of San Jose, the future bride has studied at Mercy High School and San Jose State where she earned her bachelor of arts degree in English. She is the sister of Marcia Wiggins, Pat Duhamel, Teddy Moakler and Nancy, Tom, Cathy and Jennifer Raffetto.

Stephen is now attending the US Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md. where he is an All-American Lacrosse player. He studied locally at Serra High School.

EASTER LUNCHEON

Grace Gagliardo and her children — Diana, Vince and Geraldine — round up some Easter bunnies to set the mood for a spring luncheon at noon March 27. Our Lady of Perpetual Help Mothers' Club is sponsoring the event at the school hall, 80 Wellington Ave., Daly City.

Volunteers Request Good Spring Cleaning Discards

The Volunteers of America has announced its annual Spring Salvage Drive to collect serviceable discards of seasonal clothing, shoes, large and small gas and electric appliances, furniture and household furnishings, all types of housewares, old newspapers, and any other items that can be restored to useful service by someone in need.

Lt. Col. Raymond G. Ecklund, executive officer, states: "Our Spring Salvage Drive has become one of our most important annual events in our ongoing efforts to help families and individuals in need.

Donations secured help provide job opportunities for unemployed men and women who assist with their repair, sorting, classification and the recycling of donated merchandise.

"Spring cleaning is traditionally a good time to clear out storage areas, redecorate and refurbish. It's also the best time to gather up all types of useable discards which are being replaced by new, and donate them to help others less fortunate.

Donors are urged to call 626-0434 to arrange for free truck pick-up service at home or place of business.

Fashion Show Is Slated

Move Starts Here to Repeal Coastal Law

The statewide initiative campaign to repeal the California Coastal Zone Conservation Commission and restore control of the coastal zone to local government started last week in the Bay Area by the Coalition of Concerned Citizens of San Mateo County.

The coalition, a group of concerned taxpayers, property owners, businessmen and blue collar workers, is one of 35 organizations in California sponsoring the initiative. They are working together under the banner of the California Coordinating Council.

"When passed in 1972, the Coastal Act (Prop. 20) promised the voters many things, especially their demise at the end of 1976," declared Tom Hunter, president of the coalition.

"The promises and dreams of access to the beaches, which persuaded many Californians to vote for this super bureaucracy turned out to be a nightmare of skyrocketing home prices, unemployment and a denial of property rights," he claimed.

"The commissions have been arbitrary, totally capricious and economically and socially irresponsible. They haven't added anything to all the beaches already 51 per cent owned by the government; what these elitists are doing is excluding all but the very wealthy and those already there from ever enjoying the beach," Hunter declared.

"The governor has already indicated he favors this new kind of non-representative government over local control, as has many in the Legislature.

"We have absolutely no faith in our government allowing this commission to self destruct as promised by law. We, therefore, have no alternative than to seek public support in our efforts to lift this expensive bureaucracy from the backs of the workers and taxpayers.

"We have already been delayed and lost almost two months by the government not returning our petition so that we could begin this campaign sooner.

"We are all concerned about the coastal environment and access to the beaches. This initiative will not preclude voters from expressing their desires on the multi-billion dollar bond issue for beach land already designated for acquisition by the commission."

Hunter made an appeal for individuals and organizations who want to help gather signatures and support the initiative to contact the "Committee for Local Control of the Coastal Zone," 1519 Rollins Rd., Burlingame 94010, telephone (415) 692-5848.

Art and Writing Contest Is Open

An art and writing contest will be held in Pacifica, and all graphic artists, photographers and poets in the Bay Area are eligible. Thirteen graphic works or photographs, and thirteen poems will be chosen to decorate a calendar honoring Pacifica.

This contest is sponsored by Friends of the Gallery, a new organization formed to give support to cultural events held in the Periwinkle Art Gallery in Pacifica.

Each contestant is allowed two entries. The graphic works and photographs must be 7 1/2" by 10". They must be in black and white with a heavy contrast and a few half tones. All works must be matted. The poetry must be short.

All entries will be exhibited in a special show at the Periwinkle Gallery when the new calendar is printed. The deadline for entries is May 15. For further information contact Enid Emde at the Periwinkle Art Gallery, 1227 Danmann, Pacifica 94044, phone 359-5230.

FASHION SHOW

Supporters of the Daly City Civic Ballet try on dresses they will model at a spring luncheon/fashion show at noon April 3 at the Franciscan Country Club, 700 Hoffman St., Daly City.

Checklist Available to Seniors on Income Tax

Assemblyman Louis J. Papan (D-San Mateo County) has cautioned senior citizens that thousands of elderly taxpayers routinely overpay their income taxes.

"Older people are frequently unaware of special deductions available to them. Especially now when living on a fixed income is so tough, I want the elderly in my district to be aware of ways they can legally save money on their federal tax returns," Papan said.

"Making the problem even more acute is the fact that older people who need these deductions the most are rarely able to afford the services of a professional tax consultant to help them identify the portions of the tax law which could be of benefit to them," the San Mateo County lawmaker said.

Of major importance is a wide range of medical deductions, including expenses for lab tests, crutches, back and abdominal supports, dental services, and many specialized needs.

Other frequently overlooked benefits are deductions for charitable contributions, as well as interest paid on installment purchases, home mortgages, auto loans, and bank credit cards.

"Recent changes in the tax law have made possible an even greater range of savings for all members of our community," noted Papan. "For example, the standard deduction for returns which are not itemized has been increased from a maximum of $2,000 to $2,300 for singles, and $2,600 for couples."

In addition, the "new home" credit will qualify a substantial number of senior citizens for a reduction — or even elimination — of taxes owed. Purchasers of newly constructed homes or condominiums between March 12 and Dec. 31, 1975, and moving in before the end of 1976, are entitled to a tax credit of 5 per cent of the purchase price — up to a maximum credit of $2,000.

"My office has a checklist of deductions available to older persons prepared by the U.S. Senate Committee on Aging," said Assemblyman Papan. "Any senior with questions is encouraged to call my office at 756-6400."

Assemblyman Papan also noted that persons who discover they have overpaid taxes in the past can recover them by filing an amended return claim (Form 1040-X) within three years after the original return was due.

Artist to Lecture On Color

Westmoor Adult School Art Department of the Jefferson High School District will present an exhibit of paintings and a talk on the "Wonders of Color" by internationally known artist Marjorie Close April 1 at 7 p.m. in the Westmoor High School auditorium, Daly City. Admission is free.

Mrs. Close was the recipient of the Grand Prix at the 23rd International Painting Exhibition in Deauville, France, 1972. She has shown in Cannes, France, Rome, Italy, and other major exhibits in the United States. She is listed in "Who's Who in Women in Art," and the "International Who's Who." Her exhibit will include her prize-winning trompe l'oeil painting, "Mediterranean," as well as several done in painting knife technique.

The Society of Western Artists through its Public Schools Program is sponsoring this event for all interested students, teachers, and the general public.

Citizens Won't Pay for Sidewalk Repairs

South San Franciscans will no longer be required to pay for repairs to sidewalks in front of their homes, beginning July 1.

The City Council Wednesday night, on a 3-1 vote, (Councilman Richard Battaglia voted no) rescinded a policy adopted June 19, 1974. That policy had eliminated a long-standing city tradition whereby cracks in sidewalks were repaired by city crews at city expense.

The action, which was not on the council agenda, was brought up by Councilmen William Borba and Terry Mirri.

Borba was the first to ask that the council rescind the policy, but Mirri said he already had prepared a motion and distributed it to the council.

"I see Mr. Borba was expeditious in doing it right away," Mirri said.

How much the service to property owners will cost the city and exactly what kinds of repairs the city will provide was not detailed. And, since the item was not on the agenda, no staff report was available.

Mirri said it would be sensible to wait until the next budget is adopted July 1 to implement the change.

"It would throw the whole budget process in a mess," Mirri said. "If it was implemented immediately."

Mirri blamed the city for the deterioration of the sidewalks over the past 50 years before 1974, when the city had the responsibility for repairing them at city expense. The work was never completed as it should have been, he said.

Since many sidewalks now are in an extremely poor condition, the city should take over the responsibility it had neglected, Mirri said.

Mayor Leo Padreddi agreed. He said that as soon as the homeowners had to start paying in 1974, city crews were making yellow Xs all over town showing where repairs were needed.

City Manager Ed Alario tried to discourage the council from rescinding the policy.

In effect, Alario said, the council is directing the staff to prepare the 1976-77 budget with no revenue from the commercial, residential or industrial areas for street repairs.

"This will be a very costly item as the industrial area gets older," Alario said. The sidewalk repair cost to the city in 1973 was about $50,000.

Mirri said the city will only repair sidewalks that have cracked from age and not those damaged during repair work or for other accidental reasons.

Alario said that once sidewalk repairs become a free service, the city will be flooded with requests and there will be no way to determine if sidewalk damage was accidental or because of age.

Battaglia was the most adamant in his opposition to rescinding the policy.

"I can imagine what the cost is going to be now that everyone knows they can get their sidewalk repaired for free," Battaglia said. "Severance pay is peanuts compared to this sidewalk repair. It's ridiculous."

He was referring to an earlier council discussion on rescinding severance pay for top level management personnel. The total allotment for severance pay to non-classified employees is $30,000.

Manslaughter Sentence Told

Edward P. Cushley, 65, of Daly City, was sentenced to one year in county jail March 16 for manslaughter in the vehicle-collision death of a 23-year-old woman last January.

"If state prison would undo the harm, I would sentence him there immediately," Superior Court Judge Frank Piombo stated in announcing a suspended prison term.

Killed in the accident on Skyline Boulevard in Daly City was Cynthia Parwell, a passenger in a car driven by Joann T. Durant, 19, of Redwood City. Miss Durant suffered pelvic fractures and is confined to a wheelchair.

"Cushley reveals that he doesn't even remember how it happened except he realizes he was driving on the wrong side of a divided highway," probation officer Arnie W. Peters told Judge Piombo.

A charge of drunken driving was dropped by the district attorney's office in exchange for the guilty plea to manslaughter.

Judge Piombo additionally put Cushley on five years probation, during which he is not to drink alcohol or drive.

Battaglia said no city in the county repairs sidewalks for free and that the anticipated rash of repair requests will result in "special favors to special people."

Mirri, however, said there probably are 1,000 services other cities provide for their homeowners that South San Francisco does not.

Councilman Emanuele Damonte abstained, saying the sidewalk in front of his own home needs repairs and it would be a conflict of interest for him to vote.

Padreddi and Mirri had voted against the policy to put the burden on the homeowners in 1974.

"Anytime you go to cut a few dollars from the budget, I'm going to remind you about this item," Battaglia said.

A resident, Deborah Caroon, chided the council for acting on a budget item without allowing time for a staff report or public discussion.

"I would hope this council in the future would set a policy whereby if an item is not on the agenda and a fiscal item is involved, they would delay a decision and at least put it over to another meeting," Mrs. Carson said.

Many ramifications of the action, she said, are not known because staff was not prepared to discuss the matter. She questioned whether all those homeowners who made the repairs at their own expense in the last two years would be eligible for reimbursement.

"Those who got yellow Xs in the last few years are probably not going to be too happy unless they get some reimbursement," she said.

The council, she said, should have discussed the liability of homeowners who fail to make repairs. Will they be responsible if someone trips on a crack in the sidewalk in front of their home and is injured?, she asked.

Assistant to the City Manager Mike Wilson later said that the city probably will handle the sidewalk repair requests as it is able.

Special Districts Seek Recognition

Atty. James M. Dennis told members of the recently formed San Mateo County Special District Association Thursday night that it may take as long as six months to get two of its members seated as regular members of the County's Local Agencies Formation Committee.

The organization—formed not only to protect the interests of special interest districts—such as fire protection, water and sanitary districts throughout out the county but to insure their own identities and powers will be protected—held its fourth meeting in the council chambers of the San Mateo City Hall.

One of the primary goals of the new group is to get the LAFCO's membership expanded from five to seven members to assure A its representation on the county board which rules on all annexations and formations and dissolutions of all governmental agencies with geographical jurisdictions in the county.

Capt. D. P. Fuller, a member of the San Mateo

County Harbor District who has been acting as chairman pro-tem, reported that a sufficient number of resolutions have been received or adopted by districts throughout the county requiring LAFCO to hold a public hearing on legal formation of the new group as an official governmental agency in the county.

Dennis ruled that employee of a district can be a member of the new association as well as a director.

One representative warned that a group of concerned citizens meeting in Burlingame three years ago submitted a similar request to LAFCO, but it was ignored because of a misunderstanding.

Fuller said while recreation districts throughout the county are still "listening" to what the association is doing, they have taken no active part because they are often more conservatively oriented than politically so. He said hospital districts have taken no action either, but they have opposed the district. Capt. Fuller said smaller districts as a rule offer more opportunity for innovative management and experiment with new techniques.

A nomination committee was selected and will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the headquarters of Colma Fire Protection District to prepare a slate of officers and directors to the membership at the meeting in April.

Seven directors will be elected—six from one or more districts and one from at large.

Represented at the meeting was the Harbor District, the Belmont Sanitary District, the Colma and Point Montara Fire Districts, the Broadmoor Police Protection District, the Coastside County Water District, the Westborough County Water District, the North Coastside County Water District and the Menlo Park Sanitary District.

Report on DC Cable

Consultant engineers, Hammett and Edison were expected to be assigned the job of monitoring the Vista Grande Cable system in Daly City and report their findings on signal quality to the council in the next few weeks.

Vista Grande, as part of their agreement with the city, agreed to pay for a consultant to check signal quality in all sections of the city to ensure cable users are getting good reception.

In a recent letter to City Manager David Rowe this week, attorney Thomas S. Renk, of Farrow, Schidhouse & Dent, said his client agreed to use the Los Angeles-based communications consultant firm.

Borba Determined in Severance Pay Issue

Councilman William Borba is determined to rescind a severance pay agreement for South San Francisco's top level management personnel despite the city attorney's advice that it would be illegal.

Borba said Wednesday night he does not believe the contract made with city employees was legally authorized and that there must be some way for the City Council to rescind it before its June 30, 1978, expiration date.

Borba, who was elected March 2, has said that rescinding severance pay is a preliminary step before the council can fire any top level personnel — something he has said is forthcoming.

Severance pay was one provision of a contract approved by the council last year in a memorandum of understanding. It provides three months pay to the city manager and one month pay to department heads and assistant city managers.

The council Wednesday night told City Atty. John Noonan to seek another opinion — perhaps that of a specialist in municipal law.

"The council cannot unilaterally rescind that agreement," Noonan said. But Borba moved that severance pay be immediately rescinded anyway.

"Maybe we can look between the lines," Borba said. "I've seen laws made and they were broken."

His motion died for lack of a second.

"I certainly am not going to vote to put the city in a lawsuit," said Mayor Leo Padreddi.

Borba claimed that since City Manager Ed Alario was the negotiations representative for the council and signed the agreement on its behalf, the agreement must be invalid. As city manager, he also is one of the employees covered by that contract.

"He was acting for himself and was not acting for the city," Borba said.

The council, he said, should have had a different representative, one not affected by the outcome of the negotiations and the contract.

"To me it is not a legal contract," Councilman Borba said.

His motion to rescind the severance pay provision of the contract was met with a mixed reaction by the audience of more than 100 — some applauding, but many laughing and voicing disagreement.

"I'm just interested in protecting the taxpayer," Borba said.

If the city manager were fired, he would receive about $8,425 in severance pay. Department heads and Alario's assistants would receive $2,450.

Borba also demanded to know precisely how the contract came about — and if the council specifically authorized Alario to sign it.

"The City Council voted by resolution to approve the contract," Padreddi said.

Man Shot While 'Hunting Varmits' on San Bruno Mountain

One of two men "hunting varmints" on San Bruno Mountain Wednesday afternoon was accidentally shot in the head with a 22-caliber bullet, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Reported in good condition at Kaiser Foundation

Hospital this morning after a bullet fragment was removed from behind the lower portion of his left ear was Gary Richie Vennarucci, 19, of 260 San Felipe Ave., South San Francisco.

Bernard O'Bryan, 20, of Apt. 1, 631 Sylvan Ave.,

Daly City, who drove Vennarucci to the hospital, reported to Sheriff's Deputy Ross T. Hite that he and the wounded man had been "hunting varmints" with their 22-caliber rifles in a small valley of the mountain northeast of the intersection of Shoreline and Holly Boulevard in South San Francisco. Vennarucci complained he had been hit in the head with a piece of rock as they were firing at bottles and rocks from a prone position.

An X-ray examination at the hospital showed the bullet fragment lodged behind Vennarucci's ear and caused small lacerations in the neck and chest in line with the entry wound, Hite reported.

O'Bryan said he saw four or five men on trail bikes in the area, but none appeared to be armed.

Hite reported because of the low fog level he doubted if a third man could have climbed above the two men and shot down at them.

Safety Complex: It's Back to Drawing Boards

By JANET PARKER
South San Francisco's Public Safety Facility, on the drawing boards since 1972, was sent back there again by the newly elected City Council in a study session Tuesday night.

Groundwork was laid — not for construction — but for a detailed study by City Manager Ed Alario of costs and alternatives to constructing the building, estimated at $12 million.

All expectations that the non-profit corporation method of financing the project would appear on the June 8 primary ballot also were dashed.

The new council, given its first opportunity to publicly air its views on the controversial police and fire departments complex, was in effect saying it isn't certain the proposed building should be built — now or ever.

They agreed on one thing, the need for a full study before scrapping the project entirely. Many other concerns, however, were left dangling pending the city manager's report.

The facility planned at Grand and Chestnut avenues has been tied up in a lawsuit by resident Ron Acosta for nearly a year. Acosta contends the non-profit corporation method of financing is illegal.

With his appeal to the First District Court expected to last more than a year, the council and staff are now seriously considering alternatives to construction.

In a staff report, Alario asked that the council decide immediately if the finance method should be placed on the June 8 ballot. Such a ballot proposition would have to be submitted to the county clerk by Thursday.

Although several councilmen have said they would like the public to vote on the issue, they agreed Tuesday night that June 8 would be too soon.

"We should have more than just tonight to go over this," said William Borba, one of the new councilmen. "There is no need to hurry on this."

Councilman Terry Mirri added that any move for a referendum "should be as deliberate and cautious as possible."

Alario also asked the council to consider buying an option on Kaiser Foundation property at Grand and Spruce avenues. The staff has been studying the possible purchase of the hospital and clinic for relocating the Police Department.

Alario said Kaiser will not hold the property for the city without a formal agreement. The two buildings together would cost $350,000.

Again the council rejected the staff proposal.

"We are wasting our time in even considering those two buildings," said Mayor Leo Padreddi. "I definitely do not feel that they fit into the police facility at all." He said they are too close to All Souls School and parking is inadequate.

The council also discussed the future of the fire department, but there was little agreement about it.

Councilman Richard

Battaglia said the police and fire departments should be under one roof whether the $12 million facility or one of its alternatives is finally approved.

Councilman Borba, on the other hand, said the two departments should maintain separate identities.

"Our first and most important obligation is to provide a new Police Department for this city," Mirri said. The existing Police Department building on Maple Avenue was constructed in 1949, and Police Chief James Datzman says the staff has far exceeded the building capacity.

The council eventually decided staff should study five alternatives: Construction of the $12 million police and fire facility; construction of a police facility only at Grand and Chestnut; relocation of the Police department to the Kaiser property; remodeling the existing Police Department building; and remodeling of the central fire station and Buri Buri Fire Station.

They agreed that the priority is the Police Department.

Building contractor and former councilman Frank Mammini chided the council for sending the Public Safety Facility back to the drawing boards.

"I can see this evening that we are starting all over again rehashing the same old hash," said Mammini, who supported the facility as a councilman.

He told the new council that revitalizing the old

Kaiser Hospital would be a waste of city money.

"The only use it is good for is a hospital," he said. "And it's a damn poor use."

After investing millions of dollars to remodel the building and put in parking space, the old hospital still will be insufficient, he said.

He said any discussion of remodeling or expanding the existing Police Department building is useless and the costs of adding a "free-span" floor to the one-story building would be exorbitant.

"If you are going to do that, you might as well build one flat building on Chestnut Avenue," Mammini said.

Battaglia asked Ron Acosta if he would drop the lawsuit if the voters approved a 10-cent tax override, but Acosta said no.

Perhaps the most innovative idea of the study session came from Larry Smith, a resource developer who also is director of the city's Information and Referral Center.

Smith said one possible approach would be for the city to request that the Soviet Union construct the complex as a goodwill measure and a means to showoff their construction methods in this country.

Such a project could be financed by Proplane Inc. of Florida, a firm that has done similar projects in this country.

"I know this sounds crazy. But sometimes crazy ideas turn out to be the best," Smith said.

Two Stabbing Slayings in Area Still Unsolved

By RICK SULLIVAN

The slayings of two North San Mateo County coeds, both found stabbed and sexually assaulted, remain unsolved today after months of investigation that has produced no new leads.

Although police have linked the killing of 17-year-old Paula Louise Baxter Feb. 8 with that of Veronica Anne Cascio, 18, on Jan. 8, they have been unable to apprehend a suspect.

A five-man investigative team, comprised of Millbrae and Pacifica police officers and a County Sheriff's Department deputy, has spent the last two months tracking down dead-end leads and "running down unsolved homicides throughout the western United States."

Commented Millbrae Sgt. Ron Kane, "We are no further ahead today than we were when the murders were committed. We've talked to a lot of people and a lot of agencies and have still gotten nowhere."

It was on Jan. 8 that a Pacifica youth, walking through Sharp Park Golf Course in the late morning discovered the partially nude body of Veronica Cascio lying face down in a creek.

The part-time Skyline College student had been raped, then stabbed some 30 times in the throat and abdomen.

Miss Cascio had last been seen alive waiting for a bus to take her to the Skyline campus in San Bruno.

Exactly 30 days later, the body of Paula Baxter was found in a grove of eucalyptus trees behind the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints at 245 Ludeman Lane in Millbrae.

One of Miss Baxter's friends who had organized a search party for the popular Capuchino High School student — discovered the girl's nude body partially concealed under a pile of leaves.

Miss Baxter had been raped, stabbed four times in the neck, chest and abdomen and struck on the head with a heavy object.

According to the county coroner's report, Miss

Baxter may have been struck with a piece of concrete that police found near the body.

Miss Baxter was reported missing by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Baxter of Millbrae, Feb. 7 when she had failed to return home after a play rehearsal at Capuchino. She was last seen leaving the high school about 8:15 p.m.

Several hours later, Millbrae police found Miss Baxter's brown Vega at the corner of Santa Margarita Avenue and Capuchino Drive. Fur and hair were found inside the vehicle, and the wheels and undercarriage of the car were spattered with mud.

Police found tire tracks in the mud near the area where the body was found.

Sgt. Kane said there are no witnesses to either of the slayings, but noted that criminal laboratory tests have confirmed that Miss Baxter and Miss Cascio had been sexually assaulted and slain by the same person.

He would not say how the tests showed this.

Sgt. Kane said that although police have been unable to determine the age of the murderer, they do believe he is a white male, with light brown or dark blond hair and "probably right-handed."

It is also Sgt. Kane's belief that Miss Baxter was murdered near the area where she was found, since no blood was found in the girl's car.

Sgt. Kane said his department spent a lot of time "chasing down ghosts" in the first few weeks following the murder.

"Rumors were spreading around the high school and ending up in this department. We had to check out all of them, and they all fell through," Sgt. Kane said.

He said the investigative team has traveled to Sacramento and other Northern California cities investigating all murders involving sex occurring in recent months, hoping to establish some link with the Millbrae and Pacifica murders.

So far, no such link has been established.

"We have nothing concrete to go on at this point," Sgt. Kane said.

Planners, Council Set Meet

A decision to eliminate the position of city planner and standards for improving Mission Road will be on the agenda when South San Francisco's City Council and Planning Commission meet at 7:30 p.m. April 14.

The commission had asked the previous council to tell them why the position of city planner, now held by David Hale, will not be included in the 1976-77 budget.

The council has said that it authorized City Manager Ed Alario to make whatever staffing cuts he thought necessary to help balance the upcoming budget. The planner and director of finance were told they will not be employed after June 30.

Planning commissioners individually have said they are concerned they will be unable to adequately do their own jobs if a city planner is not available to assist.

The joint meeting also will cover development standards for the planned improvements along Mission Road.

They will discuss the city's right-of-way dedication requirements along that route.

Almaden Chenin Blanc, 5th
This wine is the perfect choice for those who find some dry wines too dry. It is fruity and soft and made from the classic white grape of the Loire Valley of France. Almaden Chenin Blanc is best when it has been chilled for about 3 hours before serving. It is a fine compliment to fish or poultry.
The price is $2.25 a fifth.

With Easter just around the corner, the multi-million dollar Tanforan Park Shopping Center in San Bruno, has been bustling with hundreds of shoppers looking for the latest in Spring fashions. Smart shoppers are also taking advantage of the Garden Restaurant's 50 cents off coupon, which may be redeemed during the dinner hours. Treat the entire family — a coupon may be used for every member. Coupons save 50 cents on purchases over one dollar at any one of the Nine Garden Restaurants. . . . Save April 6, 7, 8 for the Grand Opening of Damato's new Shrimp Tail dinnerhouse in Palo Alto. The three-day gala will introduce the new continental and seafood menu, which will highlight Maine Lobster (live and swimming in a display tank), new international chef Ben Thompson and new maitre d', Charles Lyndell, "The Houdini of Flambe Dishes." Live-wire, ex-North Beach restaurateur Fred Damato will feature Maine Lobster and Prime Rib Dinners at special opening prices, with wine included. Entertainment by George Miller, Hors d'Oeuvres Table, and other surprises are planned. . . . House of Lim's "Keno Lunch" is an "eight spot winner." Backdrop this with a five course Chinese dinner for $2.80 or a six course dinner for $3.35, and your dine-out budget will feel no strain. Located in the Marsh Manor Shopping Center, Redwood City.

SHOW OPENING

James Kavanaugh opens in his new musical production, "Street Music," on Friday, March 26, at the Salmagundi Theater in Sam's Steak House, Palo Alto.

Scotty Campbell's Celebrity Restaurant

With the Circle Star Theater season now in full swing, keep in mind the close proximity for dining at Scotty Campbell's. Besides exquisite prime rib and luxurious decor (diners are surrounded by a small fortune in antiques), you might find yourself seated next to one of the theater's headliners. This Redwood City award-winning restaurant has long been a haven for visiting celebrities. . . . Pizza, in numerous varieties, is behind the years of success enjoyed by Enrico Romano, owner of Romano's in Rockaway Beach. Full course Italian dinners entered the picture a few years ago, and now even a choice of fresh seafood is available to diners. By the way, this Pacifica restaurant is a favorite of countless seaside residents who prefer a quiet, relaxing evening of dining. . . . Pay special attention to the "Tahoe bound" restaurant advertisement that offers great roadside breakfast, lunch and dinner menus. Also, Barney's bonus coupons are available to their guests. Here, you start off a winner and cash in when arriving at Barney's, South Lake Tahoe. . . . The new breakfast, luncheon and dinner prices now in effect at the South Tahoe Nugget, South Shore, are being received in fine fashion. You should see the line up for the popular "All you can eat" buffet. Ditto, for the $1.49 breakfast.

Restaurateur Still Man With a Vision

Nick Gust, who owns three thriving restaurants in Rockaway Beach, Pacifica — The Moonraker, Nick's, and Captain Charles, is still thinking ahead to future growth potential for the coastside. Incidentally, Gust will be the subject of a profile in next month's Peninsula Magazine. The exotic Castaway, at Coyote Point, is already taking reservations for brunch on Easter Sunday (April 18), says General Manager Peter Bovenberg. Last year's Easter turn-out was the biggest in the restaurant's history, and more of the same is expected this year. A special menu will be featured from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. . . . Vienna Jones, the gracious dining room hostess at the Rodeway Inn, South San Francisco, is back from a two-week vacation in Mexico and looking tanned and relaxed. It was like a second honeymoon for Vienna and her husband, Murray, who were celebrating their 24th anniversary. . . . Joe Burton, who is fronting his new trio in the lounge of Martinelli's Steak Pit, in Millbrae, is recognized as one of the country's great jazz stylists. Clean Sheets will provide the dance sounds this weekend at the popular Bayhill Lounge, located in the Bayhill Shopping Center, San Bruno. Opening Tuesday, March 30, will be The Tri-Sounds.

Porterhouse Steak Phil Lehr's Special

Steak lovers were quick to discover that the elegant new Phil Lehr's Steakery in the bottom of the San Francisco Hilton Tower is one of the few Bay Area restaurants to feature a Porterhouse steak. Confirmed beefeaters say the Porterhouse is the noblest steak of all because it is both a file and a New York, broiled right on the bone for peak tenderness and flavor. . . . Hard work and devotion to one's profession is the pledge at Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant, and the Licata family is putting it to work. Vince's restaurant crew performs like a well-tuned machine, with each employee ever ready to serve the public. . . . Jose Greco, probably the world's greatest Flamenco dancer, dined at Lehr's Greenhouse in San Francisco the other night and had nothing but praise for the flower-filled garden restaurant and the splendid continental cuisine. . . . Prime rib dinners (for two), tabbed at $8.95, debuted Monday night at The Tailwinds, in Belmont. Included is the deluxe Salad Bar. This offer, which will be presented every Monday for awhile, is Manager Robert Kania's way of introducing the new food operation.

Afternoon of Style Thursday

An afternoon of up-to-date fashions and elegant antiques set for noon March 25 by the ladies of the San Francisco Auxiliary of the Lighthouse for the Blind.

The luncheon and fashion show will be held at the Galleria Design Center, 101 Kansas St., and will feature clothes from J. Andrews' Union Street boutique. J. Andrews is known for its personalized attention to detail in coordinating individual wardrobes.

Musical interludes will be provided with performances by The Olympic Club Barbershop Quartet, pianist Jim Stasch, and harp and organ arrangements by Susan and Stephen K. Kurek.

A change of pace is offered immediately following the benefit. The $10 tickets to the fashion show are also good for admission to the San Francisco Bay Area Antiques Show and Sale.

Produced by Dorothy Emerson, it is billed as "the oldest and most authentic antique show in the west." The Antique Show will be held in the Showplace, located across the street from the Design Center.

Proceeds from the fashion show will benefit the San Francisco Lighthouse for the Blind, an organization which has served the blind, deaf-blind, and visually impaired of the Bay Area since 1902.

Reservation information is available by calling the Lighthouse administrative office at 431-1481.

Not Guilty Plea

Carl Casperson, 28, charged with the knife slaying of Laura Dunnigan inside her Pacifica home last month, pleaded not guilty before Northern Judicial District Municipal Judge Charles Becker Thursday.

Police charge that on the morning of Feb. 23, shortly before 6 a.m., Casperson went into the unlocked bungalow where 83-year-old Mrs. Dunnigan was asleep and plunged a large butcher knife into her heart.

Le Pacini

It has been rumored strongly that the Giants are trying to get Willie McCovey back from San Diego. We think it would be a good move, though we have talked to baseball men outside of the Giant organization who don't think it makes much sense.

Their reasoning is logical. Yes, they admit, no team is going to be hurt having a power swinger like Willie McCovey available coming off the bench in the late innings of a close game.

Yes, they admit, he will draw fans. But, they conclude, is a pinch-hitter worth what McCovey would make in salary? And, would he really draw enough fans to make that salary worthwhile? They figure he might draw extra fans for his first appearance or two, and that after the bloom is off the sage, his drawing power would be negligible.

We can understand all of the above reasoning, but we disagree with the conclusions.

To begin with, the question of McCovey's projected salary is a rather moot question if the new owners are willing to pay it. If they don't care, why should people outside the organization fret about it?

As far as McCovey's being just a pinch-hitter goes, we feel he would play more often, not only because of the salary, but also because the Giants need another big power man, especially against certain pitching and against certain teams in certain parks. He wouldn't beat out the younger Willie Montez (nor do we think he would or could play the outfield as a fill-in, as has been suggested), but he would certainly press Montez to consistent performances, and McCovey would be a perfect back-up should Montez get hurt.

And don't forget, Montez came up as an outfielder so could fill in, to keep his bat in the lineup, should an outfielder get hurt or go in a bad slump, which would put McCovey at first without having to depose Montez. And even if McCovey didn't do much more than pinch-hit, his threat in a pennant race would be worth all the Giants could afford to pay him.

But we have a hunch the Giant hierarchy has more in mind than just what McCovey could contribute on the field when they think in terms of re-acquiring him. This is a young Giant club with little mature leadership and no tradition of winning.

McCovey isn't a rah-rah type field leader, but he is one of the most well-liked athletes to ever play in the Bay Area, both inside the clubhouse and out. As a respected former genuine "superstar" and elder statesman, he could lend a lot of stability to the locker room just by being there and being the kind of man he is.

And symbolically, his influence could be tremendous, because he would be the only player to last compete on a Giant winner, and a link to a successful past could help to establish a winning attitude and pride.

McCovey, the big guy who played hurt and never complained or made excuses but just minded his own business and always tried his best to win, could have the kind of influence on the Giants that a quiet, aging Joe DiMaggio once had on younger Yankee clubs with great young but immature players like Mickey Mantle and Whitey Ford.

And finally, McCovey's actual drawing power at the gate could be a secondary factor to the new Giant management who, we assume, would have McCovey at every civic function time would allow, spreading goodwill and projecting that old Giants' winning image.

It's called public relations, and in his own quiet way, McCovey's value to the Giants could go beyond runs batted in and transcend immediate gate counts.

WE SELDOM make predictions, and when we do, we're seldom right, so we think we should be commended for one of our rare successes. On Feb. 25 we wrote, "Now that Bob Lurie is in charge of the Giants, can his old golfing buddy, Lon Simmons, be far behind the announcer's booth?"

LOCAL NOTES:

KEITH HERNANDEZ, the local kid who started the season last year as St. Louis' first baseman and ended up in the minors with an anemic batting average even though he was "seeing the ball well" (and hitting into a lot of tough luck), is still a big Cardinal contender, according to an article in a recent "Sporting News."

If neither Hector Cruz, who is slated to take the place of departed Ken Reitz (to the Giants) nor Hernandez make it, says Bing Devine, the Cardinals just may have to wait for next year. "One of them has to hit," says Devine.

Hernandez, the "Sporting News" writer Neal Russo, reminds, is a picture first baseman, and will "get a long, long look," in spring training.

MEANWHILE, BACK WITH THE Giants and Reitz. When the Giants first acquired the Daly City kid we theorized that he could become a .300 hitter in the cool, cool air of the West Coast.

He has for the past two years, we noted, started out the first month of the season as the National League's hottest hitter, and has faded both years in the Missouri climate.

Kenny's father Roy concurs, and adds a prediction of his own — that his son will hit more home runs in 1976 than his 1973-74 total of 13.

And wouldn't it be nice to have a young Giant third baseman who has a golden glove, and can hit .300 with 15-20 homeruns? Just his defense, his tightening up of the Giant infield, could make the Giants a contender.

INSIDE SOURCES tell us that another local product, Pacifica's southpaw power pitcher Steve Shirley, is now considered the most talented young pitcher in the Dodger organization.

"He's throwing twice as hard now as he did in high school," we've heard from more than one source. All he needs to do now, the experts keep telling us, is sharpen his control and mature. Some visionaries even picture him as a budding Sandy Koufax.

OCEANA SOCCER star Mike Haas had a rare honor bestowed on him recently — particularly for a high school athlete — when his jersey (Number 4) was retired.

Haas is the first Oceana athlete to ever have his jersey retired, and the first NPL soccer player to be paid such a tribute.

What did Haas do to deserve it all? Not much. Made All-NPL three years running, was Oceana's MVP all four years of his competition, co-captained the 1975 league champs, and was Player of the Year this past season. This was the first time in the NPL's soccer history that any athlete dominated play enough so that the coaches felt a player was worth the honor.

THE HALF MOON BAY golf course will be the site this year for the Joe Dimaggio Invitational Executive Pro-Am golf tournament April 9, proceeds to go to the Bay Area Chapter of the March of Dimes and Stanford Clinic Dermatology Department. And yes, word is that Dimag will actually be there.

DOLPH CAMILLI of San Mateo — who may sound somewhat familiar as a former great Dodger first baseman and longtime major league scout — feels that Bill Rigney is the best possible choice for manager of the Giants because Rigney works well with young players and was schooled in the fiery Leo Durocher tradition. "He'll kick a few rear ends," says Camilli, "and that's what the Giants need right about now."

Dolph also thinks Rigney put together a fine coaching staff, particularly at such a late date, when all of the really good ones are usually taken up, and that the Giants just may not need anybody else on the players' roster to be real pennant contenders.

Burlingame Nets Win 4th in Row

Burlingame High's tennis team firmed its grip on the Mid-Peninsula League lead with a 4-3 makeup win over Capuchino Monday.

The Panthers are alone in first place with a 4-0 record, but Aragon is breathing down their neck with a 4-1 mark. Hillsdale is at 3-2 and Cap and San Mateo are 2-2.

Denny Williams' win in fourth singles was the pivotal triumph for a 7-5 win.

Dave Wiseblood's second singles win was the final match of the day and Burlingame's fourth point.

San Mateo knocked off visiting Menlo-Atherton 4-3 in a non-league match. The Bearcats first doubles team of Dan Cornell and Pete Cookson insisted on flirting with danger.

They trailed 5-1 in the second set after losing the first 7-6. The duo rallied to win the second set 7-6 and then found themselves down 5-2 in the third. But they won the final five games, the set and the match.

SSF Golfers Beat Panthers

Burlingame High's golf team came up three strokes short Monday, losing to South San Francisco High 418-421 on the Crystal Springs Golf Course.

Elsewhere in the MPL, St. Ignatius dropped Crestmoor 317-325 in a seven man, 9-hole match at Sharp Park.

Craig Slazky paced Burlingame with a 78, but three sub 80 rounds by the South City Squad proved too much for the Panthers to handle.

In the Crestmoor match, Bill Ross was medalist with a 41 while Bill Casey and Jordan Field came in with 45's.

Both matches were war-ups for next week's MPL league openers.

Modified Plan For San Bruno Mountain Voted

More than two-thirds of the residential use advocated in the proposed Crocker Hills project on San Bruno Mountain was eliminated Thursday when the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors approved a modified development plan by a 3 to 2 vote.

Following a day-long discussion, the board voted acceptance of a motion by Supervisor Joan Fessler to modify the county general plan to permit development on the mountain, which would leave the comparatively level 327-acre Saddle area along Guadalupe Canyon Parkway in open space.

cion Associates attorney Howard L. Ellman said following the decision. "There will be commotion, disruption, litigation and no project."

Robert Follett, general manager for Visitation Associates, had little to say after the board action. He noted that the change by the board in the recommendation of the County Planning Commission that the plan which includes residential and commercial development in the Saddle area be adopted is subject to review by the commission.

He is confident, Follett said, that the Planning Commission will again rec-

It was in the Saddle area where Visitation Associates had planned to locate 5,420 of the 7,655 dwelling units proposed in the Crocker Hills development. "If it (the board action) stands as of now," Visitation

Ellman said that "there is no evidence in the record" that the plan which eliminates development in the Saddle is economically feasible.

"As of now," Ellman said, "it constitutes a taking."

Asst. Dist. Atty. Henry Dietz informed the board that the major change in the plan as recommended by the Planning Commission requires that the matter go back to the commission for review.

If there is no report or recommendation from the commission within 40 days, the plan as amended by the board is deemed to have the approval of the commission.

The vote on Mrs. Fessler's motion, which was opposed by Board Chairman William H. Royer and Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald, followed attempts by the latter two supervisors to secure approval of the Visitation Associates plan.

Fitzgerald moved for acceptance of the plan as recommended by the commission, and Royer handed over the gavel to Vice-Chairman John M. Ward to make the second.

After Fitzgerald's motion was defeated 3 to 2, Royer moved for a modified plan which would reduce the number of dwelling units in the Saddle area by 40 per cent. That, too, was defeated 3 to 2.
